DR. MATTHEWS INAUGURATED L. M. U. HEAD

New President Thrills Audience With His Address Yesterday Afternoon —Services of Day Are Impressive

DOCTOR OF LAWS DEGREE CONFERRED GOV. LOWDEN

Rededicating his life to the service of the mountain people and reconsecrating himself to the institution over "which hovers the spirit of Lincoln" to work which will give the "American Highlanders" the chance to which they are entitled, Dr. Robert Orville Matthews, made the closing address to the two days' exercises at L. M. U. here yesterday afternoon.

The honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred on the Hon. Frank O. Lowden, governor of Illinois, yesterday afternoon by Chancellor Wesley Hill. The auditorium was crowded to capacity all during the day.

The exercises began at 10:30 o'clock in the morning, the Hon. A. L. Garford presiding. The Rev. W. K. McClure pronounced a brief but impressive invocation. The "Anvil Chorus" was the first musical number and made an instantaneous hit with the audience Miss Bessie Smith played the accompaniment while Prof. Denny was director.

The Hon. Roy A. Haynes, Federal Prohibition Commissioner, was the first speaker. In his somewhat lengthy but intensely interesting address he showed that despite the claims of the enemies of prohibition that Lincoln was a total abstainer and, though living in a day before prohibition became an issue, was an ardent advocate of it.

"I have known Dr. Matthews as a brother longer than have known him casually," he said at the beginning of his address "No nobler man, no man more able was ever called to an institution of higher learning. If the immortal Lincoln could voice his opinion in regard to your choice he would say 'You have selected wisely; I am pleased.'

Lincoln Abhorred Liquor

"The world today loves Lincoln more than ever before; he is a man of God and his picture stands out resplendent and alone. He regarded liquor and slavery as the same; he lived to see the abolishment of the latter.

Lincoln, he said, had taken the pledge of total abstinence when he was eight years of age, and he never broke the promise.

In 1885 he drafted a prohibition bill for the state of Illinois which was defeated by 14,000 votes. He said that the maker of the affidavit that Lincoln was not in sympathy with prohibition had confessed that the instrument was entirely false, that the words purporting to come from Lincoln were his own.

The Hon. Myers Y. Cooper, one of the new trustees of the university and a personal friend of the late Theodore Roosevelt gave an instructive address on the "Responsibilities of Citizenship." As a prelude to his speech he stated than Sen. Simeon Fess had sent his regards to the personnel of the institution.

In speaking of the enemies of the country he declared: "Four hundred periodicals of a seditious nature with a circulation of five million are sowing seeds of discord in our midst. These enemies would overthrow the works of God; they would substitute license for liberty.

"Men of America have proven their ability at readjustment," he said. "Our five million men who fought in the World War have all found employment In England there are a million and a quarter men without work.

Europe Near Revolution

"Europe is on the dark verge of revolution, in the throe of Bolshevism. America, the hope of the world today, is ready to render assistance, to aid in adjusting the differences We are certain that she will not fail civilization. Business and professions are demanding a higher standard of efficiency and such institutions as this offers opportunity for enlarged service to mankind. It is the brain that counts in this modern day. Real satisfaction comes only from a duty well performed. In closing the speaker quoted from Roosevelt who had said that every person, to render the maximum amount of service, must take an interest in politics whether or not he works within party lines.

Kent Costigan, prominent merchant and importer of New York city, made a brief address in which some original ideas were expounded. He stated that a course of study should be taught in detail of the life of Lincoln. that this would be a distinguishing mark for the university.

He stated that his three boys had promised not to smoke until they were over 21 nor to drink before they were 25. They had not only kept the promises to date specified but also thereafter.

The morning exercises were over at noon Prof A. H. Willoughby pronounced the benediction.

The afternoon session, which began at 2:30, was opened by prayer by Dr. Rutherford E. Douglas. The hymn, "A Mighty Fortress is Our God," was sung by the choir, the congregation joining in. Dr. John Wesley Hill, chancellor of the university, presided during the afternoon exercises.

LL.D. For Governor Lowden

In presenting Gov. Lowden with the Doctor of Laws diploma, he said impressively: 'In behalf of the faculty and the trustees of Lincoln Memorial University and in recognition of your devotion to the ideals of Lincoln, your loyalty to American institutions and your interest in higher education, I hereby confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Laws.' The act was followed by thunders of applause

"I am deeply sensible of the high honor conferred upon me, the prominent alumnus declared. I don't know where a man could receive a greater distinction nor a greater thrill. This makes me an alumnus of your grand institution. I shall always be glad to welcome a fellow alumnus or alumni at my home."

Following this speech of acceptance, Gov. Lowden spoke at length on the United States Constitution, showing that the instrument, though written 150 years ago, is still a goldo for our law makers, that in it provisions had been made to cover any circumstances which might arise.

'It was a Republican constitution," he declared, "which provided that the

RED CROSS ROLL CALL TOMORROW

House to House Canvass to Get Dues to Enable This City to Keep Nurse Here

The annual Red Cross roll call for membership will be held in Middlesboro tomorrow. Personal house to house solicitation for membership fees will be made by members of the Woman's club, and an effort will be made to get at least one thousand members in the city. Headquarters for the campaign will be in Moore Bogan Wholesale Dry Goods Co. room, and anyone who is not solicited may come here any time during the day to pay his membership

This roll call is entirely apart from the Community Chest drive last summer The Community Chest provides for financing the work in the Red Cross home and takes care of that matter. The roll call is necessary to take care of the national Red Cross organization which in its turn town that does not have a certain proportion of members in good standing, that is, with yearly dues paid up, can enjoy the advantages of the national Red Cross nor keep a Red Cross nurse or worker there.

The recognized worth of the Red Cross to Middlesboro as well as its value as an organization in world calamities as the recent Japanese earthquake, is so well known that this roll call will surely go through without hesitation or difficulty.

CITY WILL BUY STREET FLUSHER NEXT MONTH

Council Last Night Endorses Committee's Recommendation—Truck to Remove Dirt Already Purchased

Wm. WALLBRECHT REAPPOINTED CITY ASSESSOR

Recommendation that the city purchase a street-flushing truck costing $7,525 and that same be shipped December 15, was made by the chairman of the street committee last night and accepted by the council. A light Reo truck costing $1800 for removing dirt and rubbish from the streets will also be purchased, this to be delivered at once.

M. G. Hubbard, chairman of the committee, had made an exhaustive investigation into prices and types of equipment and recommended the purchase of a Kelly Springfield truck, equipped with Studebaker lifting apparatus. It will be equipped with a compressor which will give it a 240 pound pressure, a stream capable of going over a five-story building in case of fire.

The city fire insurance rate will be considerably lessened by the addition of the truck to our fire department, Mr. Hubbard stated.

Mayor J. H. Keeney favored the delivery of the machine March 1, but the majority of the council members wanted it now so that the new streets would not suffer from lack of cleaning during the winter months. The money with which it is bought must be borrowed, the mayor said, for the terms of truck companies are cash.

A petition submitted by the W. G. Colson estate in which it is stated that, inasmuch as R. L. Maddox had received promise of pay from the city for services as prosecuting attorney W. G. Colson, deceased was entitled to the same privilege as the status of his case was identical with that of Mr. Maddox. The matter was referred to the finance committee, the mayor giving them authority to confer with Judge T. G. Anderson in regard to the legal phase of it.

Reports of the financial department of the city were made. Bills were read approved and ordered paid.

William Wallbrecht, city assessor, was reappointed to the position, his salary being fixed at $1000 a year, to be paid monthly.

There being some confusion about the matter of the Community Chest donation of $600, motion was again made and granted that the sum be paid in order that it might appear properly on the record.

It being contended that Mrs. J. R. Haslitt is erecting a building on Lothbury avenue which is aparently a fire hazard, the street committee was instructed to investigate.

A petition to have Salisbury avenue, near the canal improved was "filed away." The ordinance regarding the report of J. C. Richardson, city engineer, on the paving at Dorchester and Cumberland, passed the second reading

WART REMOVER IS NOT ALWAYS EQUALLY EFFECTIVE

A public demonstration in corn and wart removing staged by a street vender ended rather disastrously Saturday morning. The subject for the vendor's alleged skill was a stalwart miner—one who appeared to have nerves of iron

True to his word, the stranger removed a large wart from the miner's hand though the latter, upon seeing the blood and possibly feeling the pain, quietly fainted and gracefully sank to the ground. While he was being restored to his senses the medicine vendor explained that about one patient in ten thousand was affected thusly but some fear however, there were no further demonstrations

COOLIDGE URGES FULL RESPONSE TO RED CROSS

President Asks American People to Give Universal Support to Roll Call This Month

RED CROSS IS BIGGEST WELFARE ORGANIZATION

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—President Coolidge today urged the American people to give universal support to the Red Cross Call, starting tomorrow for enrollment of members for 1924. The President issued this statement:

"As president of the United States of America and as president of the American National Red Cross, I hereby designate November 11, Armistice Day, to November 20, as the period of the annual Red Cross Membership Roll Call, and I appoint November 11 Red Cross Sunday, and recommend that our churches dedicate that day to a thoughtful and prayerful consideration of the privilege and duty of concentrated service to humanity.

"During the World War the volunteer effort of the American people to assist the government in providing for the welfare of our military and naval forces at home, on the seas, and overseas was expressed largely through the American Red Cross, which also rendered incalculable assistance to the armed forces of our associates in the war and to their civilian populations within the invaded areas during and after the war.

"The recent calamity which befell Japan when millions of her people suffered dire distress following the earthquake has served again to reveal to the people of the nation the readiness of the American Red Cross to respond immediately for service in the great emergency and to apply the generous gifts of our people to the amelioration of human suffering. In rendering assistance wherever duty calls, the American Red Cross, in addition to its work in foreign lands administers relief in times of disaster in our own country, helps to solve the problem of public health, is ever active in other humanitarian projects and, above all, renders welcome assistance to the government in the care of our disabled veterans of the World War.

"Through its charter granted by Congress, the American Red Cross is charged with specific duties in relationship with the Army and Navy and with the people at large in periods of emergency and distress, and it has never failed to perform those duties. Since the war, and as a result of experience acquired in the war, it has expanded its welfare operations in all regions of our country.

"The Red Cross seeks only to serve, not to usurp the prerogatives of other institutions or governmental authorities, but co-operate with all others in service to humanity.

"It is upon popular membership that the American Red Cross relies for strength of organization and for funds to carry on its work which is so essential to the good of our country, and it is a privilege to our people to hold membership in and have a part in the work of this truly American organization. I therefore urge a renewal of all present membership and enlistment in the American Red Cross by all not now members."

Frank M. Fisher Was Despondent Over Failure of His Bank—Was Prominent in State

Associated Press

PADUCAH, Nov. 13.—Frank M. Fisher, president of the Ohio Valley Fire and Marine Insurance company, and ex-president of the Ohio Valley Bank and Trust Company, which closed its doors following an announcement of insolvency last week, shot and killed himself at his home here early today. Fisher is said to have been deeply despondent following the failure of the bank and according to close friends, has spoken of ending his life on several occasions Members of Fisher's household heard the shot about five o'clock and rushing to his room found him dying. One shot had been fired, the bullet entering his right ear and death was practically instantaneous. A coroner's inquest was set for this afternoon.

Associated Press

PADUCAH, Nov. 13—Strain of the failure of the bank from which he resigned on the eve it closed its doors, was showing more apparent on Fisher during the last few days. The report of the state bank examiners on the condition of the bank was expected today and all hope of solvency was dissipated. It is understood that the Ohio Valley Insurance company with which the bank is allied, was also under scrutiny of the state insurance department. The two companies represented practically all Fisher's investments of later years. Fisher has long been prominent in business and political circles here. He organized the Sun Publishing company, served as president of the Dawson Springs Hotel company, served four terms as postmaster and was recognized as the republican leader of this district.

CANADA PEAK OIL COMPANY SELECTS DRILLING SITE

Friday of last week, F. S. Lee, of Middlesboro, and C. W. Ross, of Winchester, went over the lease of the Canada Peak Oil Company and selected a location near the head of Lick Fork creek to drill the first oil or gas well.

Mr. Ross left for Bowling Green Saturday to superintend the loading of his largest drilling rig capable of drilling to 3000 feet or more to be shipped here for drilling the well at the site selected.

The prospects for striking a large flow gas well are exceedingly bright, as the location is a short distance south of the crest of the well defined anticline, and gas has been struck eight miles to the southwest on a continuation of the same anticline.

DR MATTHEWS DESERVES LOYAL SUPPORT

The principal session of the exercises just closing at Lincoln Memorial University was the inauguration of Dr Robert Greville Matthews as president. These exercises began Sunday morning and continued through two days but little was actually done in the way to the inauguration until the afternoon of Monday. During this time one of the finest most unassuming and self-effacive men of the occasion was Dr Matthew. Now a chair is placed on the mountain president is some friend who knew him. Secretary Davis paid a beautiful tribute to him at the informal Kiwanis dinner in honor of the visiting guests others did likewise.

It was fitting that the crowning event of the entire occasion was the address of Dr Matthews at the close of the exercises on the last day. He has the rare element of greatness in him secretary Davis said. No man in America is greater nobler, or more fitted for the work. All the distinguished guests were unanimous in their praise of Dr Matthews and in their expression of faith in the success of his administration.

It is high time for the people of this section to give full and complete support to the furtherance of the development of Lincoln Memorial University. To look upon with favor the work of Dr Matthews and his associates would be the first manifestation for the mountaineers and the institution in its service for the mountains and in its invaluable work of serving out and training leaders for America.

Hill Watches

Four watches do the great hills keep
Beside their altars high
Above the vales of men and things
Forever passing by.

The Spring with youth and beauty comes
As if all life were May,
With song and cheer and festive dance
Along a flowery way.

The dances end as Summer nears,
And with a veil of gold
She hides the meaning all must learn
Ere all her days are told.

With quiet pace the Autumn comes,
The song and laughter ceases.
And o'er the harvest fields the winds
Go chanting hymns of peace.

The Winter walks the vales alone
Where comrade feet have passed;
At every door of memory
He sets the wide bars fast.

Four watches do the great hills keep
Beside their altars high,
Unchanging while in vales below
Men and things go by!

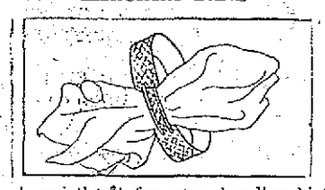
'KERCHIEF BAND



A wristband for your handkerchief may match your sweater or carry out some color scheme in your gown. Use Luster Iceland wool and cast on 12 stitches. Knit about two inches, then knit three inches, only leaving the others on the needle until you have sufficient length for the slit through which your handkerchief is to be pulled about an inch and a half.

Then break your thread and pick up the stitches and knit the next six only, the same length as the first three. Break your thread again and do the same with the last three stitches. Then knit straight across, join all 12 stitches again and continue to the desired length of the band.

A chiffon or linen handkerchief embroidered with the wool makes a pretty kerchief to wear with the band.

people should be governed by men of their own selection. By it an indissoluble union of indestructable states was created.

He explained the "due process of law" phrase, saying that not even the sovereignty had the right to take property, life or inflict punishment until the proper legal proceedings had been done.

"Lincoln was big enough to include the whole world in his love. You remember he said that government by the people should not perish from the earth.' America is the hope of the world, he stated. If it should fail there would be darkness on earth. It is now the only rainbow in the sky for the nations of earth.

Berea President Speaks

Dr. William J. Hutchins, president of Berea college, made a short speech in which he stressed the need of thorough education. "If we become the master of life we must conquer self, circumstances, defeat and sorrow."

He spoke of the high calling of the university presidents and instructors and of the unique position in which they were placed to minister to the needs of humanity. "If you will stand back of the efforts of the faculty, you will become builders of the nation that is to be," he told the students in closing.

Edwin Armstrong sang 'Lassie O' Mine" at this juncture. He has an excellent voice and the song brought forth loud and prolonged applause. He sang an encore number which was equally well received. Miss Smith played the accompaniment.

Dr. Hill made the next address, thrilling the audience with his oratory. "They say I am a race horse but I am only a dray horse," he said in opening.

There is a constant struggle of the flesh against the spirit and of the spirit against the flesh and the character is typed by the one that reaches the ascendancy," he stated. Courage without rashness, faith without superstition, economy without parsimony, liberality without prodigality, these are quality with which such institutions as these seek to imbue the student."

There is much necessity for "grinding" now as ever, he declared and students who do not "grind" do not produce any grist. "Education is not something to be pursued, rather it is something to be found within. We must sink a shaft down into the depths of spiritual and mental resources, we must acquire the ability to think in one spot until it blazes."

"This university is no longer an experiment. If it ever were on trial, surely the back ground of statistical achievement, the increased enrollment and enlarged endowment would convince an injury that it has come forth from the experimental laboratory clothed with victory and with achieved results."

Matthews a Wonderful Speaker

Dr. Matthews made the closing speech of the program. His address, a constant play of verbal pyrotechnics from start to finish, held the audience spell bound. They received a part of his own fervor as they became more and more embraced with his subject.

"If Dr. Hill is not a race horse, then he is certainly in the class with Spark-plug and you have to go some to beat him," he said in preliminary remarks to his address.

His subject was the "American Highlanders." In his speech he traced the development of the Scotch-Irish people from their former homes until the present, showing how they had ever been pioneers, clearing the way for better civilization.

"The Scotch-Irish have exhibited such characteristics as to shake the destinies of the entire country," he declared. "They have never worn a halo but in the fibre of their being are the lements of character fitted for leadership.

"They appeared early on the horizon of history. They have ever been able to see an ideal and to capture it or they have had the heroism to follow it and perish in the attempt.

"In their native lands, their ideals came in conflict with the government of England. No ties of kinship to their mother country were strong enough to hold them on their civil and religious liberties were threatened and they turned their faces toward the land of opportunity.

First Settlers in Virginia

He told how the newcomers had first settled in Pennsylvania and had later made an exodus to Virginia, ever seeking to opportunity to live and to have independence. "The seeds of American independence were sown by them here," he said, "and the smothering fires of the American Revolution were kindled. He told of how they had declared the Stamp Tax of England illegal, of the beginning of the revolution and the succeeding battles for freedom and of how they had shared in the glories of all and that the battles of the Cowpens and Kings Mountain, only the Scotch-Irish people took part.

He told of how they had framed the American constitution, how they began the establishment of free schools and of their prohibiting a union of church and state.

"These people have been stored away in the mountains until the time of the nation's great need. Their continued success depends on our ability to produce the right kind of leaders."

Then the president made a spirited appeal for the people of the mountains, pleading that they be given at least an equal chance with others. Aliens in the large cities who cannot read or write English are afforded the benefit of fine schools, efficient teachers and long terms. Sure the "Highlanders of the Mountains" the real builders of the nation should be placed on equality with the foreign-born children he contended.

Matthews is Cheered

"Some say that there is a great triumvirate of treason that seeks to isolate us, that it is the skull and crossbones of the country. I don't believe it I think there is a worse menace in the doctrine parading as the spirit of internationalism. I have no objection to this except that I think everything we advocate should have American leadership. In all strategic places Americans only should be on guard!"

The president then uttered the words by which he reconsecrated himself and his life to the work. The close of his speech was the signal for thunderous applause. The audience, as one person arose. Prominent men on the platform surrounded the president and literally hugged him in their enthusiasm; hundreds of people in the audience gave vent to their feelings by loud and prolonged cheers and the waving of handkerchiefs. Dr. Matthews' speech was clearly the event of the program.

The hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers," came as a fitting close to the program. The benediction was pronounced by Dr Hill. This ended the program.

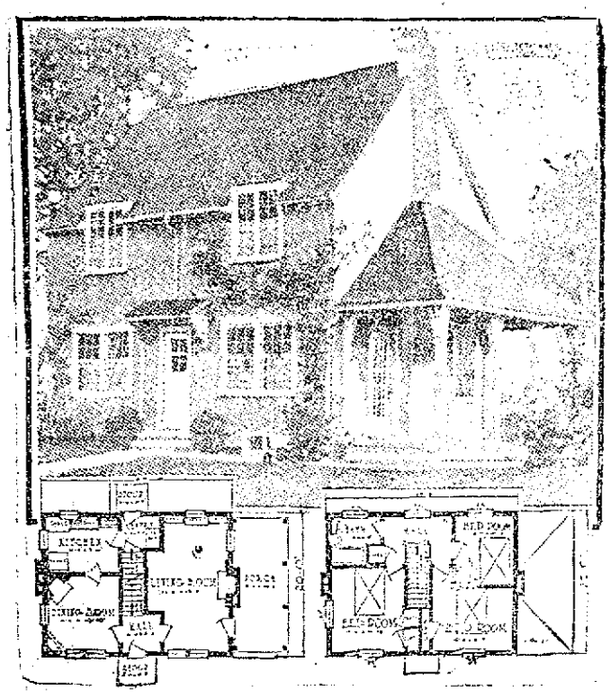
Six-Room Home for $6580



THIS HOME DESIGNED BY THE CURTIS SERVICE BUREAU OF CLINTON, IA.

You can build this "just right" size home for $6580, according to its designers, the Curtis Service Bureau, Clinton, Ia. This includes heating, plumbing and wiring. Cost may vary slightly in different localities.

Six rooms is an ideal size home for most average families, and is a size in popular demand. So this good looking house is of special interest. The foundations are only 29 feet wide and 29 feet in depth—really a small house—and yet there are six livable rooms, an entrance hall, bath, and rear entry which is within the rectangle of the house. Many built-in features help to conserve space, making the house wonderfully convenient as well.

The formal entrance insures privacy for the living porch at the side. This entrance opens upon a small vestibule, with a straight boxed stair. A vestibule, however small, is a great protection to the living rooms in cold weather, and enables one to economize on fuel bills by completely shutting off the unused rooms.

Fireplace

The living room occupies the entire right side of the first floor—or the left, if your lot requires reversing the plans. There is a fireplace on the outside long wall, at one side of it a glazed door leading to the porch. Just opposite the fireplace is a jog in the room-wall, forming an alcove that is full of suggestions for furniture groups. At the back of the room, surrounding the window overlooking the garden, is a recess of bookcases and window seat, forming a most inviting corner.

At the front on the other side of the hall is the cozy, cheerful dining room. The kitchen is small enough to delight the most efficient housewife, and is fitted with dresser, work table and sink under a window. The rear entry provides a most convenient place for the ice-box. From it, the basement steps are easily accessible from without or within the house.

Three Bedrooms

Upstairs there are three bedrooms. The smaller would make a good child's bedroom, den or sewing room. There is a closet in each room, besides a clothes-press in the largest, and a linen case in the hall.

The exterior of the house is a study in good design. Its English Tudor influences are evident in the steep-pitched roof, the chimney tiles, the hooded formal entrance, the casement windows of the second story.

Notice that ordinary double-hung windows have been used on the first floor, but have been handled by the architect so skillfully that there is no conflict between the two types. Stucco is the exterior material used.

COLMAR NOTES

Miss Lossley Freeman spent the week-end with her uncle, L. F. Gatliff, who is in charge of the Southern Mining Co. commissary here.

C. C. Rogers, Prof. Rogers and Miss Ella Rogers are visiting Dr. and Mrs. Clyde Russell.

Mrs. B. E. Gatliff and Mrs. W. B. Cooper are visiting Mr. L. F. Gatliff and Coach Gurley.

Owen Flannery, superintendent of the Colmar mine, made a visit to Middlesboro Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Peace were shopping in Middlesboro Saturday evening.

The mines are running most every day here and the output of coal is somewhat as it was in the days gone by. Miners are moving in to work and the wheels of the mining industry are rolling once more at Colmar.

The mines at Crance Creek Co., located at Cross, are not running and many from there are coming to Colmar.

The Colmar School, under the supervision of Prof. W. L. Knuckles, will give a box supper at the opera house Saturday, November 14. Proceeds will be added to the amount given by the Odd Fellows for the purpose of giving each child under 11 years old in the community a Christmas present.

After the ladies had taken a census of the Colmar camps, they found that there were 177 children under the age of 14 years.

He leaves his mother, Mr. and Mrs. Charls Terry, two sisters, Edna and Etta; and three brothers, Roscoe, Walter and Edward.

Marion Terry was buried yesterday afternoon at the Odd Fellows cemetery Rev. L. C. Kelly officiating. Funeral services were conducted at the Baptist church by the Rev. Kelly. CRIMINAL COURT AT PINEVILLE MOVES AT SLOW PACE

PINEVILLE, Nov. 12.—The criminal session of the circuit court is still in progress here with the program slowed down to a snail's pace. Two hundred liquor cases have been discontinued until the next term, which begins Feb. 25, 1924.

The following cases have been reported on:

George Gibson was fined fifty dollars and costs, charged with shooting on the highway. Gibson lives at Chenoa.

John Hensley, Pineville, was fined $10 and costs for public drunkenness.

J. A. Thompson, groceryman of this city, charged with selling Jamaica Ginger and extract, for beverage purposes, was fined $300 and 60 days in confinement.

All murder cases were passed until the next term of court.

In a number of cases witnesses who had been subpoenied failed to appear and the Sheriff was notified to arrest them for contempt of court.

TRIAL OF FERNDALE MAN FOR MURDER POSTPONED

PINEVILLE, Nov. 13.—The trial of Elic Dawson, charged with the murder of Lash Hoskins last week at Ferndale over a game of cards, was postponed for a few hours. It is thought that the trial will be held some time today. The attorneys for both sides are making preparations for a long hard fight. Dawson was returned to jail this morning after having been brought over to court.

BLASTING AT QUARRY CAUSE OF FIRES, SAY CITIZENS

PINEVILLE, Nov. 13.—"The blasting in the rock quarries have something to do with these fires around here," stated a member of the fire department today. "My home is full of cracks and holes, especially in the chimney." They often blast six and seven times in three or four minutes and before the vibration of one has died down the country is shaken again.

A distinct vibration can be felt here when a charge is fired, and when three or four are fired in quick succession the result feels similar to a faint earth quake. Numbers of the citizens contribute the cause of the recent numerous fires to this source.

OFFICE OF U. M. W. OF A TO REMAIN IN KNOXVILLE

THIRD TIME TO LOSE HOUSE AND FURNISHINGS BY FIRE

PINEVILLE, Nov. 13.—The duplex home of Curtis Hamilton and Wooly Warren was completely destroyed by fire Saturday evening about 4:30 o'clock. Everything in the building was a total loss. This is the third time, twice in the last six months, that Mr. Warren has suffered a complete loss of his home and property, unfortunately he has had no insurance to cover his losses on any of the three occasions It is thought that the building caught fire from a defective flue. Both Hamilton and Warren were at the train at the time of the fire and were ignorant of the fact until their home was practically destroyed.

SALVATION ARMY REVIVAL PROMISES GOOD RESULTS

The Salvation Army revival services which started Sunday night at the Salvation Army hall promise wonderful results. There was a splendid attendance the first night and many hands were raised to ask for prayer. The sermon subject, on Armistice Day, was "Blessed Is the Nation Whose God Is the Lord." Services last night were interesting, too, and the meeting promises to be of great benefit to this community.

AUTOMATIC ELECTRIC STOVE BEING DEMONSTRATED HERE

Miss Louise Hammond, demonstrator and J. B. Riley salesman, for the Toledo Electric Automotic company of Toledo, O., are in Middlesboro this week at the Kentucky Utilities company demonstrating the use of the automatic electric cook stove made by that company. These demonstrations are arousing a great deal of interest because of the unique character of the stove. One domestic science class from the high school, with the teacher, Miss Mary Skeen, attended a demonstration this morning and another home economics class will be present this afternoon. A delegation from the Woman's Club will be there tomorrow.

These stoves have single or double compartments. The single compartment, the demonstrator says, will cook a meal for seven or eight persons and will cook at the same time a roast three kinds of vegetables and a pudding. Besides this, the stoves bake bread, biscuits or pies. Their particular feature is their automatic regulation, making it possible to cook an entire meal without personal supervision, as the heat turns off itself if it becomes too hot.

The K. U. Company cordially invites all women who participate in the Red Cross drive which opens tomorrow to visit the place. Hot coffee and sandwiches will be served to them from 10:30 o'clock throughout the day.

RECRUITER LEAVING CITY ADVISES CLEAN STREETS

Sergeant Chillent of Cincinnati is relieving him here. Sergeant Wilson expressed his thanks to Middlesboro people for his courteous treatment while in this city and adding that he had but one word of advice to give them, "You'd better keep your streets clean."
